The Early Head Start National Resource Center (EHS NRC) serves the Early Head Start community by building new knowledge and sharing information related to the unique needs of infants, toddlers, and expectant families. The EHS NRC is staffed by individuals with a wide range of knowledge and expertise in the infant-family field. The EHS NRC disseminates timely information through face-to-face meetings and state of the art distant learning experiences. Resources created by the EHS NRC are provided to the EHS and Migrant and Seasonal Head Start community to promote an understanding of the needs of the infant-family field and to support best practices.

 Books for Babies

Books for Babies is a program that encourages parents of infants between birth and 12 months to share books with their babies. It supports all families in developing early literacy and language experiences and promotes healthy family relationships.

The program:

- A four-week program delivered either through one-on-one contacts or in a group setting facilitated by various community partners
- Each family is provided with a sturdy book bag, books and easy-to-read information
- Ways to enjoy books together are modeled and shared
- Parents are introduced to their local library and other available resources
